President's Message

As the 2009 ski season slowly moves toward its final run, there are other things brewing for the Castro Valley ski Club. Look through these pages, get out your calendar and save the dates for some special events. With the melting of the snow and the shut down of ski resorts comes our End of Season Banquet at the beautiful Sequoia Country Club and a five star dinner with all the trimmings, an evening of dancing and socializing you don't want to miss.

Somewhere in the very near future Jacky Poulsen will offer a spring hike through our "Little Yosemite" aka Lake Del Valle Park near Livermore. This will be a gorgeous feast for the eyes with a tapestry of wild flowers and hills that are still a carpet of lush green. Bring your cameras. Watch for this announcement date and don't be left behind.

Right around the corner (June 5-7 for the fun stuff) comes the Far West Ski Association annual convention in Reno, Nevada, the biggest little town in the USA, so they say. If you have never attended one of these conventions you should consider the opportunity. It's close by and there is lots to keep you occupied and interested.....gambling, fabulous ski packages auctioned at bargain prices, getting a heads up on the activities and awards presented by FWSA, a gala evening with dinner and dancing to a live band. Take time to cruise around Lake Tahoe, explore the Reno scene, etc., etc., etc. Get your reservations at the PepperMill while space is still available and lets make a good CVSC showing. You won't want to miss the crowning of your club's Man and Woman of the Year. Hey, it's OK to be optimistic. My crown size is 7-1/4 when Claudia places the order. The Sherman-Wehrman Royalty Rocks!!! Don't forget Karen's crown.

Back to reality. How about some more humor? You will have to wait 'till the next club meeting. All for now.

It's time to get out there and make a great day for yourself and others whose paths you may cross. Share a smile. It's wonderfully contagious.

Ralph

Consider this....

Greetings! Welcome to April.

Bay Area Snow Sports Council News

The BAC Park City trip was great fun and great skiing. This was my first ski trip to Park City and hopefully not my last. The package included passes to Deer Valley, Park City Resort, and The Canyon. I would be hard pressed to pick a favorite as each resort had much to offer in terms of terrain and amenities. Throughout our visit, weather was favorable with blue skies & puffy clouds. Timing of the trip was also favorable in that we were packing for home just before the spring break wave hit the resorts. The Peaks hotel was so convenient with shuttle service just steps from the front lobby. The friendly staff and amenities including a full breakfast to order each morning made our stay most agreeable. The traditional wine & cheese party that was held Saturday evening was a huge success and a wonderful opportunity for travelers to relax and enjoy mingling with old and new friends. Jim & Diana Gartland hosted the party in their lovely suite and did a great job with the setup. Jim Korn, everyone's favorite go-to guy, pitched in on a myriad of tasks to ensure everything went smoothly. Many thanks are due Diana and the "two Jims" for their help & support to ensure the party went off as planned. The BAC Park City trip was a smashing success. My only regret was not having a little more time in Park City to explore the historical town and experience the dining scene. Maybe next time...

Council nominations & elections for board positions, other than President, are underway with the voting taking place at the general meeting on April 6. Each club has two votes cast by club presidents & club BAC representatives.

BAC Discount Lift Ticket Returns: Unused lift tickets purchased through the BAC Discount Lift Ticket program may be returned for credit for repurchase next season. The deadline for returning tickets is Wednesday, May 6. The BAC Discount Ticket Returns form will be emailed to participants mid April. Forms will also be available at the April 15, club meeting.

I look forward to seeing you at the April meetings. Meanwhile, I hope you're having fun – on and off the slopes.

Best regards,

Paula Kinahon

CVSC Man & Woman of the Year

By Paula Kinahon

CVSC has flourished & grown in membership during a time when many clubs are languishing. Through the CVSC Man & Woman of the Year program our club recognizes two volunteers who have contributed to the success of our club through their commitment of time, expertise, & enthusiasm. Please join me in congratulating this year's CVSC Woman of the Year Karen Wehrman, VP Membership; CVSC Man of the Year Ralph Sherman, President. Karen and Ralph have both been strong contributors on the board of directors during their time in office. Additionally:

Karen streamlined our annual membership renewal through the Early Bird discount program. Members now have the option of saving money by renewing their membership early. Karen also co-hosted the CVSC Volunteer Party in October and the club Summer BBQ Meeting in August.

Ralph boldly stepped up to the task as CVSC President during a mid-term transition of leadership. This past year Ralph chaired the CVSC community volunteer service assisting senior citizens of Castro Valley. Ralph also continues to lead CVSC efforts supporting disabled skiers through the DSUSA programs.

Our club is blessed with a strong volunteer base so singling out just two individuals posed some challenges. Here are the other nominees for CVSC Man and Woman of The year:

Pat Green Activity Chairman, Beaver Creek trip leader, hosted the Halloween party and the Summer BBQ Meeting in July.

Jim Silva VP Weekend Trips, revitalization of the Siegfried condo lodging, co-hosted the summer BBQ Meeting in August, co-hosted the Volunteer Party in October.

Dennie Warren, SkiZette Editor, kicked the newsletter up a notch, and introduced the new sports equipment swaps & sales segment.

Sandy Beecher Safety Committee Chair, served on volunteer ski patrol for numerous years, and chairman/host of the annual Napa winery tour & BBQ.

Dave Cunningham Race Chairman, strong contributor on the board for several years and always with a fresh perspective. Also brings a wealth of industry information our way each month as BAC Industry Liaison.

[We must remind ourselves that the force of nature is very strong and the potential for an avalanche is very high. ]

Ski patrol member killed in Squaw Valley avalanche

By Stan Oklobdzija

A 41-year-old ski patrol member from Squaw Valley died Tuesday after being caught in an avalanche during routine duties, Placer County Sheriff's Department officials said.

Andrew Entin died in Renown Regional Medical Center in Reno, where he was rushed after being caught in the avalanche in Squaw Valley's Head Wall area, said Lt. Jeff Ausnow. He was identified late Tuesday by the Medical Examiner's Office in Washoe County.

Entin was out with a partner Tuesday morning trying to induce controlled avalanches, Ausnow said. They were running pre-determined routes around the mountain and launching explosive devices designed to trigger safe snow breaks, he said.

When some of the explosive devices failed to detonate, Entin and his partner performed a "ski cutting" maneuver where they skied across the avalanche-prone area trying to trigger an avalanche, Ausnow said. The maneuver is designed to trigger an avalanche as safely as possible so that in the event it does occur, one is not caught off guard, according to avalanche.org, a Web site dedicated to avalanche study and prevention.

During the ski cut, a large patch of snow broke above Entin and carried him into a grove of trees, Ausnow said. According to preliminary investigations, Entin died of blunt force trauma, Ausnow said.

How do avalanches occur?

An avalanche occurs when a mass of snow falls down a mountainside. That is because new snow (which is not wet) accumulates on a more heavy snow layer. Since the new snow layer is not compact, it could slide down toward the base of the mountain.

Avalanches could be triggered by loud noise (yells, firearm shots, etc.). Skiers, snowboarders and climbers could also cause an avalanche.

There are two ways to reduce avalanche risks: by installing snow sheds or by triggering controlled avalanches. These protection fences are made of rocks, soil and other materials. They prevent avalanches to fill trails used by humans. Controlled avalanches cause the accumulated snow to fall down before it could trigger avalanches by itself. When nobody is in danger, explosives are used to produce a loud noise that causes an avalanche.

During the winter, do not venture in the mountain without an adult.

If you walk in a trail after a snow fall, do not walk in the middle of it, but rather on the side. Avalanches always fall down in the middle of the path; thus, if you are on the side, the risks of being hit by the avalanche are lower.

Head Injury

Head injury is the result of a rapid deceleration of the cranium and its contents. Just as cars now have crumple zones to slow the deceleration, helmets have padding which has the same effect. The hard casing also defuses the blow delivered by small object, i.e. a rock or limb. A helmet may not save you, but it provides a margin of safety.

Signs and symptoms will vary depending on the severity of a head injury.

If you have any of the following signs and symptoms, seek immediate medical attention.

- Headaches or neck pain that do not go away;
- Difficulty remembering, concentrating, or making decisions;
- Slowness in thinking, speaking, acting, or reading;
- Getting lost or easily confused;
- Feeling tired all of the time, having no energy or motivation;
- Mood changes (feeling sad or angry for no reason);
- Changes in sleep patterns (sleeping a lot more or having a hard time sleeping);
- Light-headedness, dizziness, or loss of balance;
- Nausea and or vomiting
- Increased sensitivity to lights, sounds, or distractions;
- Blurred vision or eyes that tire easily;
- Loss of sense of smell or taste; and
- Ringing in the ears.

Be smart and careful

Sandy

FWSA Ski Week 2009 @ Big Sky

By Paula Kinahon

A small contingent of intrepid CVSC members joined the FWSA for Ski Week 2009 @ Big Sky, Montana. Big Sky, known for expansive terrain and no lift lines, did not disappoint. Skiers happily discovered acres of terrain perfectly matched to skiing abilities. FWSA Ski week is so much more than a ski trip. Recreational racing, parties, dancing, day excursions, and renewal of friendships from far and wide are just a few things that made the week a truly memorable vacation. The Far West Ski Association and the Councils did a terrific job orchestrating the week's events. The consensus is in: FWSA Ski Week @ Big Sky was a rollicking good time.

Happy travelers from all points of the western United States arrived to frigid weather at Big Sky with temperatures well below zero. Other than a few baggage delays (Sandy Beecher's and mine among them), flight and bus arrivals happened as planned. Eva Lanphear and I along with Dave and Erika Meinhardt were tickled pink when we checked into our suite of rooms at The Summit at Big Sky. Rooms 509 and 510 with two bedrooms, three full bathrooms, living room with full kitchen and dining area would do us nicely for the week. Situated at the base of Big Sky resort, a mere stone's throw from several chairlifts, The Summit has raised the bar on my idea of the perfect ski lodge.

We awoke Sunday to a minus 20 degree temperature and dead calm, thankfully. Those who skied reported great snow, albeit cold, with some flat light. Those of us without ski gear spent the day exploring shops, eating establishments, and phoning Frontier Airlines and front desk for baggage ETA. Bags showed up around 5 that evening – ah yes, life was good. The Welcome Party that evening, officially launching the week of festivities, was the first opportunity to meet and greet folks, many of whom we see but once or twice a year -- always fun. This was also the last chance to register for the recreational races scheduled throughout the week.

Exploring Big Sky's vast terrain on skis, the Qualifier races, and the ever popular Pub Crawl later that evening kept happy travelers on the go Monday. Eva and I flunked pub crawling. Blame it on the martinis but we never made it past the first stop at Andiamos Restaurant. CVSC member Roland Kutaka, whom we rarely see at meetings, was there with many friends from the Nisei Ski Club. We all had fun chattering away and getting acquainted. Throughout the evening Dave Cunningham and I worked the room selling raffle tickets for the scholarship fund to support up and coming skiers. Sidebar: Raffle proceeds exceeded $3,000 by week's end topping the Whistler ski week 2008 that had double the participation.

Tuesday was a full day with Council Night at Buck's T-4 following a day of skiing or the optional Yellowstone and Old Faithful excursion. The BAC party was one of the best of recent memory and got rave reviews. The food was great and there was lots of it. Notable were the BBQ ribs, Mac and cheese, and some really excellent wines that had been donated by many trip participants, Sandy Beecher, Dave Cunningham, and Dennie Warren to name a few. Following dinner, the DJ kept us on our toes and on the dance floor with the best of classic rock. Eva, I discovered, is a genuine party animal. She stayed for the last dance and the last bus out. You go girl!

While snow showers kept some off the slopes and in the shops on Wednesday, the diehard skiers enjoyed another great day on the mountain. It was also GS race day. Evening plans centered on the CVSC and Friends wine and cheese party at Summit suite 509/510. We had a great turn out with lots of wonderful wines, cheeses, and appetizers to sample. Many thanks to Eva Lanphear, Erica and Dave Meinhardt who pitched in making phone calls, setting up the room, and preparing delectable deviled eggs (my favorite) for the party. As the saying goes though, what happened in 509/510 stays in 509/510. Suffice to say, a great time was had by all...

More skiing was the order of the day Thursday with short breaks for the slalom races and the traditional mountain picnic, which wasn't on the mountain at all but at the Huntley Lodge. No one complained. We enjoyed a delicious picnic lunch while chatting and mingling with friends in the comfort of the lovely lodge dining room. Evening plans included fine dining at The Cabin Bar and Grill located conveniently in the mountain village of Big Sky. The meal, wines, and companions all excellent.

Girls having fun – Paula, Eva, Sandy, and Karen

Friday, the last full day at Big Sky, was glorious. Temperatures a balmy 20 degrees and blue skies ensured a perfect finish to ski week 2009. Sandy Beecher and friends headed out early in search of the mountain photographer for photo shoots. Later I enjoyed a great lunch at the Pinnacle, the upscale mid-mountain restaurant situated at the top of the Ramcharger and Thunderwolf lifts – great food and great views. A guided mountain tour finished the day of skiing. The Awards and Farewell Banquet would round out Friday's events but first a brief detour for some wine-tasting sponsored by the Duckhorn Winery of Napa. Last on our agenda were Mudslides at the Summit lounge to celebrate the many medals won by CVSC skiers and toast another great FWSA Ski Week. Many people stopped by to say hello and reminisce about the wonderful week it had been – the perfect finish to the day and the week.

Race Highlights: CVSC medalists: Sandy Beecher GS silver and S bronze; Dennie Warren GS gold; Dave Meinhardt GS gold and S bronze; the BAC made Council of the Week.
