President's Message

With our Club President Karen Wehrman out of the country on vacation she's asked if I would remind the club members about this year's Annual Auction...

Get ready for the excitement when the bidding starts. Yes, it's that time again to start thinking of what you will be donating at our Castro Valley Ski Club Annual Fundraiser Auction on November 17th. Auction night is relaxed, informal, and always lots of fun. Whether you're donating or bidding, this is a terrific opportunity to support our club and 'give something back.' This event has always turned out to be a great evening with many surprises on what our members end up donating to the event. Check out the auction flyer for ideas, fill out an auction form and return it to Dave Silva. Remember that this is our major fundraising event of the season with a portion of the proceeds earmarked to support 'Disabled Skiers'. Thanks to the wonderful donations, high bidding, and cash donations by club members from past auctions, and cash contributions at club meetings, this year the club will be presenting a Mono Ski to the Alpine Disabled Sports Organization. This is a great gift to Disabled Skiers and is only possible due to the great contributions by you, Castro Valley Ski Club Members.

Karen Wehrman
President

On another note mark your calendar for this year's Christmas Dinner scheduled for December 8th at Sequoyah Country Club. Please contact Pat Green to reserve your reservation.

Until our next meeting, enjoy!

Dave Silva for President Karen Wehrman...

Bay Area Snow Sports Council News

The BAC Discount Lift Ticket Sales campaign got off to a slow start this season with so many of our board members on the go. Information on the program along with the order form was emailed to the club membership last month. Discounted tickets save us 20-35 percent off resort at-the-window prices so participating in the BAC Discount Lift Ticket program is an excellent value. Skiing is an expensive passion so any means to save money is well worth it. Prices at many resorts took a jump so even more reason to purchase lift tickets through the BAC.

Deadline for ordering new and repurchased tickets is Friday, November 5th.

Mailed Ticket orders will be available for delivery mid-December.

At the airport we were met by our driver Midget his assistant and our International guide Aynur (one of the best ever) and taken to the Germir Palas Hotel where we started our adventure. For the next 11 days, we toured the country by bus and covered many miles.

What is one thing that people of all nations, colors, and creeds have in common? We all eat. Food unites us; and a worldly traveler takes advantage of every bite to soak up all that a culture has to offer. Food is the pulse of a culture. Food fortifies; it is celebrated and cherished. Eating like a local is an important aspect of traveling because it gives you an accurate look at a culture. Many Turkish dishes gave us a full sensory experience, in some cases more than one can handle. In short the dishes were very hot! Some of the CVSC members wanted to know how to neutralize “hot” in their mouth. This month I would like to dedicate this article to neutralizing hot and spicy foods.

Have you ever eaten a little too much hot pepper?

That hot and spicy food tasted good until you stop eating it and realize your tongue might spontaneously combust if you closed your mouth. What do you reach for? What will neutralize the burning heat of the capsaicin (component that makes peppers and chiles hot) stubbornly binding to every taste bud in your mouth?

Common antidotes for relieving the pain include water, ice, bread, alcohol and milk. All of these may provide some relief with varying degrees of effectiveness. Ice and anything cold certainly feels good, but as soon as it melts and is gone, the burning pain will come back nearly as strong as before. To really neutralize capsaicin we must consider what it is soluble in, which is mainly alcohol and fat. But before you reach for that beer remember that most contain about 95% water and will do little to wash away the capsaicin persistently clinging to your burning tongue. It's time for the strong stuff? Even most hard liquors are only 40% pure alcohol which is probably enough to do the trick eventually, but you might not be able to get off the floor a few minutes later. A better choice is the fat contained in dairy products.

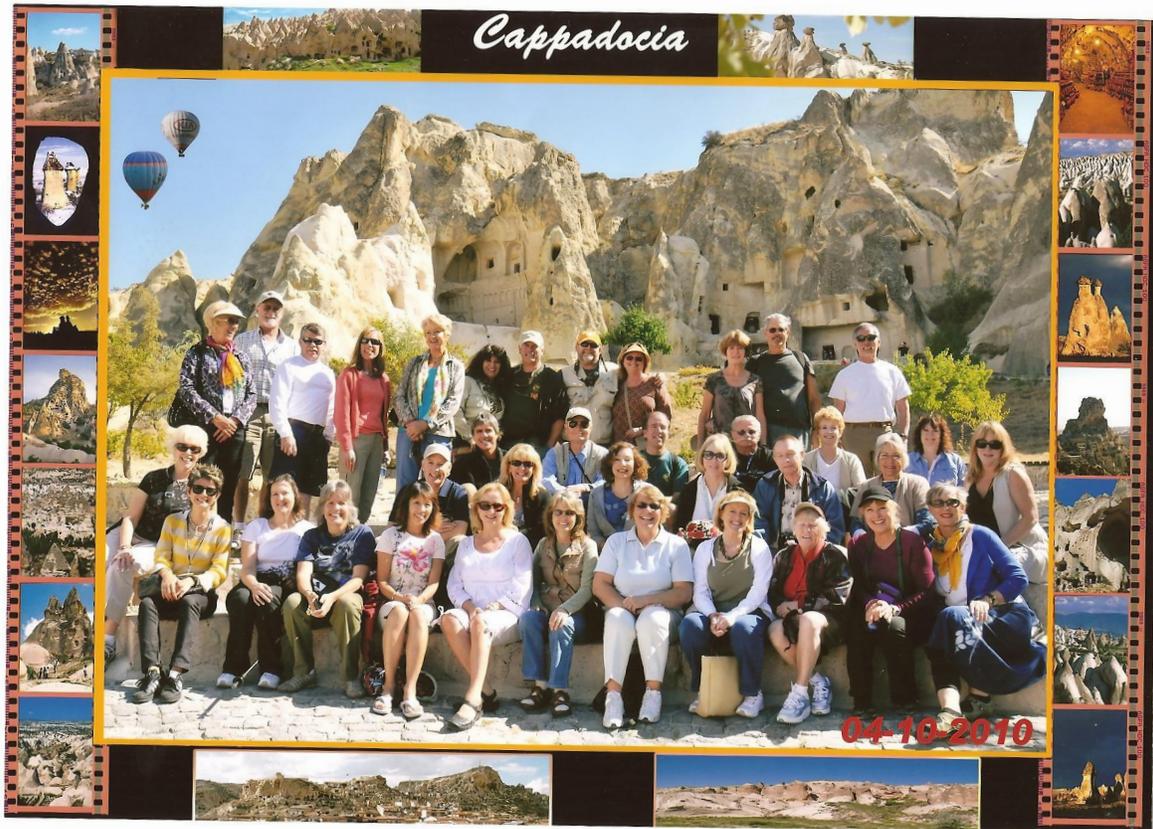

High fat dairy products, such as milk or sour cream, quickly coats the mouth and break the bonds that capsaicin forms with the nerve ending in your mouth. Ever wonder why spicy Mexican food is often served with sour cream? Dairy products are also stored cold, providing instant cooling relief, and you will still be able to drive home after finishing off a tall glass of icy cold milk! Sugars will also bind to pain receptors than capsaicin and the other capsaicinoids making a sweet treat a good idea. As experienced in Turkey, we did not have sugar or milk to neutralize a mouth that was on fire so the next best thing was salt. Salt is not generally recommended because concentrated salt in you mouth can be very disgusting On the hand it can be a blessing!

To My Castro Valley buddies

I hope you never have to suffer from a burning mouth in the future.

Sandy

GREETINGS FROM TURKEY!!!

Our trip to Turkey was a “many splendored thing”, filled with adventure, education, cultural experience, just to name a few. We visited 7 cities, each offering a grand mix of sights, tastes, climate, and of course unsurpassed learning experiences.

There was so much to see, learn, taste, discover, experience, in this limited space it is impossible to convey all that there was to offer. However, here is just a hint of what we brought back with us:

- underground city in Kaymakli
- mosques (especially the Blue Mosque – 17th century Ottoman Mosque)
- balloon ride
- swimming in the Mediterranean Sea
- Bosphorus tour
- food.....shopping
- Turkish mineral baths
- factories – pottery, leather & rug
- cave dwellings
- culture....history

Thoughts we came home with:

‘Turkey was much more developed than expected... a clean country.’

‘Travel is the great love of life and is worth any cost or sacrifice. Turkey is very westernized & peaceful. Most of all Turks show immense respect and love for family & beliefs.’

‘Hot air balloon pilot “Argy” was a Turkish delight & lifted us from basket to a champagne toast soaring above the chimney rocks.’

‘Traveling with Castro Valley Ski Club has always been fun. This has been a great group to travel with as everyone has gotten along without any issues.’

Last but not least, let us not forget our “cute as a button” tour guide, Aynur. She was a major part of what made our trip so enjoyable. Besides being a walking encyclopedia about her country, she was a delight to travel with.

Gentlemen, start your engines!

Up, up and away.....
